Pie Shop

Oi! Give us a piece of your pie, mate!

Just leave some of the crust and gravy. Ma's not hungry right now.

Gravy stains! What do you mean you've spent your last shilling on a pie?!

Get up, lazy woman! Well - no rent, then you're out!

You're not well, Annie. I can't help you but Emily can help me make the bread. Sunday, I'll take Lizzie to my cousin's to help her.

Rosie, I don't want to know that they're here, understand?

God Bless you,
Jim.

Get them to the Workhouse, there's nothing more to do for
'em.

Give him his horse back,
it's all he's got in the world.

Where's my
'orse?

Take 'em to the Workhouse, boy!

Two more for you. One for the infirmary, one for the school.

Get in! You coma and get scrubbed and cropped.

God is Good

God is Just

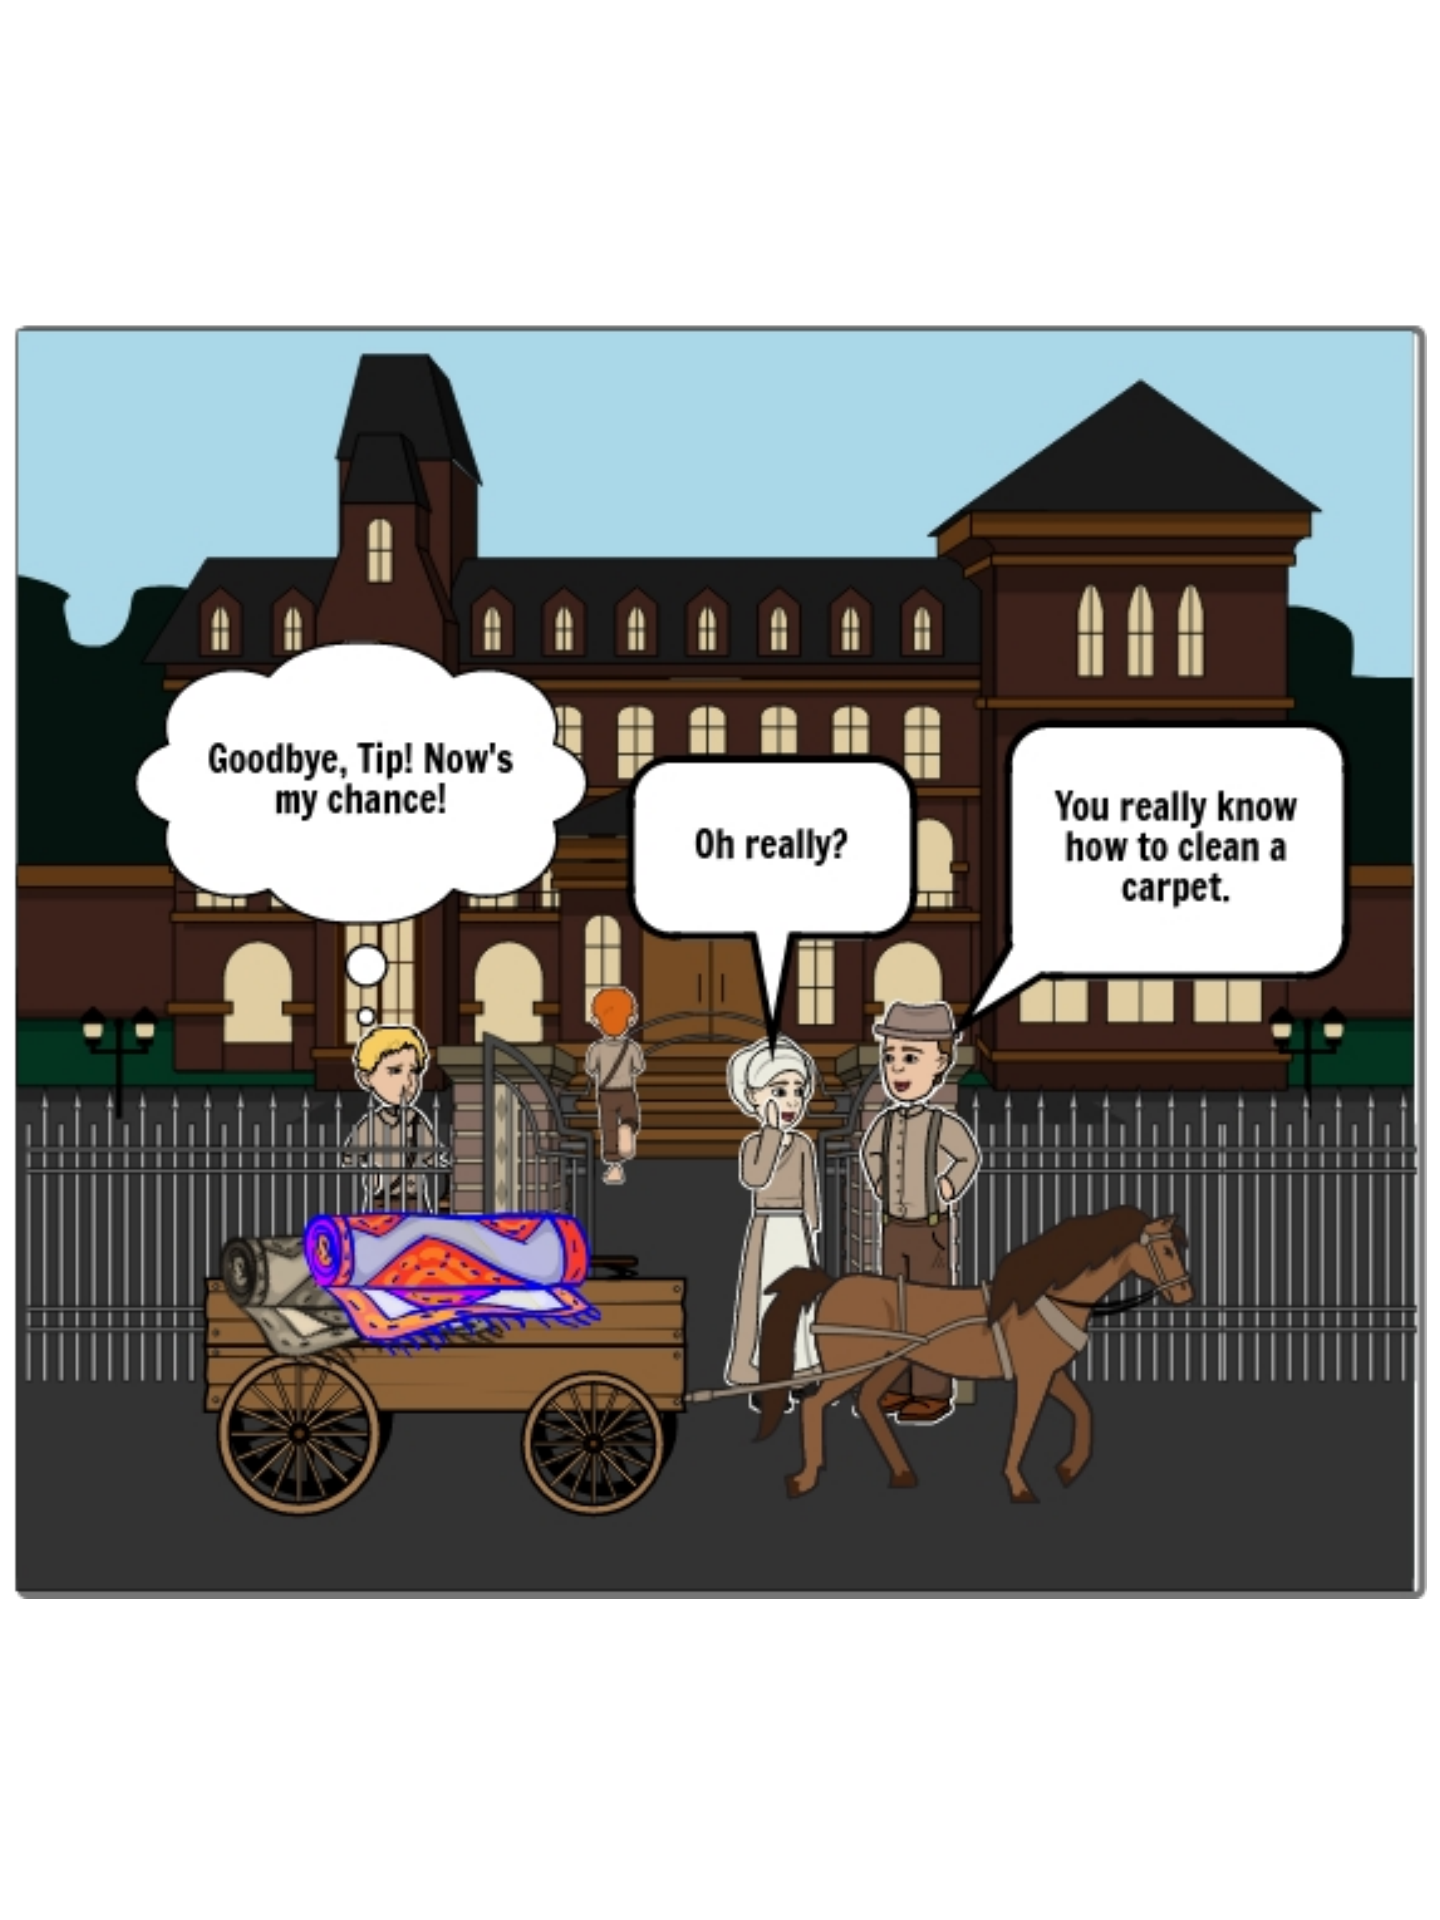

God is Love

Now you can write!

How?

Cor it's easy. Just wiggle your chalk across the slate like this.

Goodbye, Tip! Now's my chance!

Oh really?

You really know how to clean a carpet.

Where's Rosie? What happened to Emily and Lizzie?

The old housekeeper and cook lost their jobs, because they were hiding a couple of street children.

Don't know any Rosie.
